cued from drowning are generally ungrateful to their rescuers, and seem to have little appreciation of the desperate chances taken to save them. The only explanation given for this strange ingratitude is that the person rescued from drowning has so great a horror of such a death that he detests everything in connection with it. Numerous instances of ingratitude can be cited. A man who was once rescued by Mr. Story at Prison Point bridge, in midwinter, endeavored in every way for a year after the rescue to secure Mr. Story's place as drawtender of the bridge. A woman whom the same brave than saved from death and cared for during several weeks of sickness brought on by her involuntary bath, proved a miserable ingrate. Mr. Story provided her with a dress belonging to his wife, her own having been badly

NO ROMANCE HERE. A man was rescued from drowning after a desperate struggle near Tuder's wharf, Charlestown, several years ago, and to quiet him it was necessary for the young man who jumped in after him to strike him several times and plunge his head under the water. "Any one who has ever been rescued from drawning in an unconscious condition will agree with me that this sort of talk is rank nonsense. Once I was in the water so long that, when rescued, it required forty-five minutes' work to revive me, and I assure you that my stay unther water was anything but pleasant. My face began to grow hot; there was a heavy pressure on my head and body; I began to tremble, and was forced to expel the air from my lungs. Then I commenced to smother. I knew that something must be done and quickly, too, or I should die. The pressure on my head and body increased. I was being strangled and crushed to death. My head seemed to

"My whole past life rose before me. I thought of home and everything dear to me, and a thousand other thoughts seemed to pour into my mind at once, I cursed my luck, and also prayed that I might be freed. I realized that death was upon me, and wondered what would come after death. Frightful noises rang in my cars, which gradually grew to the volume of the most terrific thunder. Finally I relapsed into insensibility.

Ugly, painful, blotched, Malicious. No rest by day, no peace by night. Doctors and all remedies failed. Tried Cuticura Remedies Effect marvellous, Complete cure in five weeks. Saved his life.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who at-tempted to cure it, but it spread with almost incred-tion out the spread with almost incredtempted to cure it, but it spread with almost incredible rapidity until the lower portion of the little fellow's person, from the middle of his lack down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched, and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally we were advised to try the CUTICHIA REMEDIES, The effect was simply marvelous. In three or four weeks a complete care was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and today he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repitition of the disease having ever occurred.

Blotches and Scabs from Head to Feet.

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body, in small red blotches, with a dry white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although fie had been treated by two physicians. As a last resort, I determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES and am happy to say they did all that I could wish. Using them according to divertions, the humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are all you claim for them. They are worth their weight in gold to any one troubled as my boy was.

GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC.

Cornelius Rosach, the brave ferry hand, has never but once received grateful acknowledgment for a rescue from those whom he has saved from watery graves.

Romantic stories sometimes tell of the hero being rewarded liberally by those whom he has saved, but they are works of fiction and not fact. Occasionally some one who has been snatched from death rewards his preserver, but these cases are very rare.
